What is Talent Search?

Talent Search projects serve young people in grades six through 12. In addition to counseling, participants receive information about college admissions requirements, scholarships and various student financial aid programs. This early intervention program helps people from families, where neither parent graduated from college, to better understand their educational opportunities and options. More than 363,000 students are enrolled in 466 Talent Search TRIO projects. There are currently three Talent Search programs in West Virginia that serve 1,800 students. According to the more recent data collected by the Department of Education, 79% of Talent Search participants were admitted to postsecondary institutions.
